New European 14, 18 & Under Champions crowned

New champions have been crowned at the European Junior Championships after a frenetic week of tennis saw breakthrough performances from several of the region's most promising players.

300 young athletes were in action in Most (CZE) for the 14 & Under event and in Klosters (SUI) for the 18 & Under Championships. The 16 & Under event in Moscow has been postponed until later this year.

The 18 & Under singles titles were claimed by unseeded Antonia Ruzic and second seed Viacheslav Bielinskyi. As the beautiful weather took a break on the final day, the championship deciders had to be played indoors. The numerous spectators saw a fascinating first set between Ruzic of Croatia and Alina Granwehr, with the Swiss player unable to convert any of her six set-points. Shortly after, she took a medical timeout but there was no improvement as far as her shoulder was concerned. She then took the difficult decision to retire at 5-7, 0-2.

"It is never nice to finish a match this way," Ruzic said in the on-court interview, "but I wish Alina a speedy recovery and that she soon can compete again." Despite the unlucky end, Ruzic is a worthy title winner. In her four previous matches, she had consecutively beaten the number 7, 9, 3 and 1 seeds and proved her ITF junior ranking of 174 was no measure of her ability. "I am focusing on my pro career, but I am extremely happy to take this title", she smiled. The future looks bright for the former Junior Masters champion, who made her Billie Jean King Cup debut for Croatia back in February.

Both finalists then posed for pictures with Martina Hingis, who took part in the prize-giving ceremony. The Swiss superstar was the very first winner of the Championships ➔

"Junior events were very important for my development", the superstar, winner of 25 Grand Slam titles and the world number one for 209 weeks, said in a short interview on court, "...and some of the memories last forever"

It was an unfortunate ending for Granwehr, who had ridden a wave of local support to record a series of upsets over the tournament's biggest names, including wins over second seed Diana Shnaider (RUS) and a marathon 7-5 6-7(6) 6-2 win over recent Roland Garros champion Linda Noskova (CZE) in the semi-finals. Ruzic, for her part, had ended the hopes of two more pre-tournament favourites for the title, 2020 Roland Garros champion Elsa Jacquemot (FRA), and WTA Charleston quarterfinalist Linda Fruhvirtova (CZE).

The boys' final had the air of a 'family affair', albeit with players from different nations. "He is my best friend", Bielinskyi explained after taking the title 7-5, 6-3. And the ➔

Alina Granwehr celebrates another win during her memorable run to the final.

Adam Jurajda and Daniel Siniakov celebrate their win.

Doubles winners Mara Guth & Julia Middendorf (GER).

➔ runner-up Petr Nesterov (BUL) added: "It is one of the toughest things to play against him for me."

Bielinskyi was the number two seed and dropped only one set on route to the final, as did his opponent. The Ukrainian, a quarter finalist at this year's Roland Garros, has high hopes for the future: "My goals are to play Grand Slams, Davis Cup and possibly the ATP Tour finals," he said.

With the victory, he stands out as the first Ukrainian boy ever to win the 18 & Under title. Yulia Beygelzimer's 2000 girls' victory remains the only previous Ukrainian singles title.

In doubles action, Czech pair Adam Jurajda & Daniel Siniakov etched their names into the record books by achieving the rare feat of winning back-to-back doubles gold medals. The unseeded Swiss team of Jérôme Kym & Jan Sebesta was in the driving seat and leading by a set and a break when play was halted because of a short spell of rain. On the return, the Czechs bounced back, forcing a decider.

Again, the Swiss gave their fans plenty of hope, leading for most of the match tiebreak and had a good chance at 8-7 to secure themselves two match points. The Czechs showed strong defensive skills however and eventually prevailed 11-9. Jurajda & Siniakov duly secured themselves a second gold medal to add to their 16 & Under title from Moscow in 2019.

Jurajda said, "We enjoyed the tournament a lot, it's a beautiful place to play and the organisation was brilliant. I heard about this tournament through the years and now finally I had chance to play it and we are so happy we made a title for the second time."

Germany claimed the girls' doubles gold with an upset win for Mara Guth & Julia Middendorf. They overcame top-seeded international combination of Noskova (CZE) & Shnaider (RUS), who had conceded just fourteen games in four matches prior to the final.

Having split the first two sets 6-3 3-6, the German pair eventually claimed the match on a Champions' tie break, 10-7. Guth was more than satisfied with her week in Klosters, saying, "It was a great tournament, and the club had the most beautiful view of the mountains. I really enjoyed my time there."

14 & Under

Nikola Djosic of Switzerland and Czech Tereza Valentova are the new European 14 & Under Champions.

Unseeded Djosic capped an unforgettable week in which he beat seeds #9, 7, 4 and 1 with another upset, this time over fifth seeded home hope Jan Kumstat. The marathon match saw Djosic drop his sole set of the week. After being broken in the twelfth game to lose the first set 7-5, it was Kumstat who held his nerve at the crunch end of the second, eventually claiming it 7-4 in the tie break to level. Djosic reasserted his authority in the decider though, running away to a 6-3 win to become the first Swiss boy since Michael Kratochvil 28 years ago to win the 14 & Under title. Remarkably, the win is just his fourth Tennis Europe Junior Tour singles title, and first above Category 3 level. ➔

➔ “The experience here was indescribable, I learned so much,” Djosic told us. “After the final I could not really believe what a good tournament it was. All of them played so good that I had to fight for every point.”

Tereza Valentova gave the home fans something to cheer when she became the second unseeded singles champion this year. She followed up an impressive run of wins over higher ranked opposition (accounting for #16 Shanice Roignot, #7 Julia Stusek, #5 Ksenia Smirnova, #2 Rositsa Dencheva) with a three-set win over European #1 Alina Korneeva of Russia, 6-3 2-6 6-2. Like Djosic, Valentova had just three previous Junior Tour titles, though notably won the Cat.2 16 & Under event in Budapest earlier this year.

The four singles finalists have extra reasons to celebrate, with confirmation that each will receive an invitation to compete at the season-ending Tennis Europe Junior Masters in Monte-Carlo in October.

In the doubles events, home players completed a best-ever haul of three of the possible four gold medals in Most. Tereza Valentova returned to the court a short while after her singles victory to add the doubles title alongside partner Marie Slamenikova. They took the first set against top seeds Rositsa Dencheva & Yoana Konstantinova (BUL) by a comfortable margin 6-3, and then held on to claim the second in a tie break. The win marks a second doubles title of the year for both players. ➔

➔ Valentova joins an exclusive list of players to achieve the singles-doubles sweep in the same year: other players to manage the feat in this age category include the likes of Iga Swiatek, Justine Henin and Steffi Graf.

The boys' top seeds Jan Kumstat & Maxim Mrva lived up to their billing by cruising to a 6-3 6-3 win over Justin Engel & Max Schoenhaus of Germany in their final. For Kumstat the win marked a second medal of the day, having ended the singles competition as runner-up. Mrva was appearing in his seventh doubles final of the season, though he had just one title from the previous six finals, while for Kumstat the win is his first doubles title of 2021.

Former players guide the next generation at European Championships

Among the team captains every year in Klosters are several former professional players. Marco Keller spoke to Austrian Andreas Haider-Maurer and Alexia Dechaume-Balleret of France about their memories and their transition from player to coach.

Andreas Haider-Maurer is in a hurry on Wednesday afternoon. His player Marko Andrejic has just lost in a tough three-setter in the third round to Vilius Gaubas, the 14th seed from Lithuania. Instead of preparing for the round of 16, the Austrian team has a different task - packing up the bags as quickly as possible in order to reach the next train. "It is a hard loss, especially because Marko had a match point", says the captain of the Austrian boys.

Haider-Maurer knows situations like these from his playing days. A former successful pro, he was the number 47 in the world, holds a 6-5 record in Davis Cup play and was a finalist at the prestigious Vienna indoor event. And his career got a jump start like that of so many other young players at European Championships. In 2001, he played the Under 14 event, when the title went to a certain Novak Djokovic. Haider-Maurer remembers his stints at the Championships: "They were a real highlight for me. All the best European players took part and it's a memory that stays forever. I think, to be able to participate is unique for every player."

The transition from player to coach isn't obvious. During the career, a player is always focused on himself whereas later he has to create the best possible environment to help his pupils. "It is a big change," Haider-Maurer says, "but it is also a lot of fun to pass on my experience to the next generation."

Of course, this vast experience also includes how to handle tough situations, and to possibly handle them better than he used to. "I advise the players for example not to be hectic, to take more time between points." On the train ride home, there was plenty of time to discuss the missed opportunity with Andrejic: "It's important to analyse, and to make sure that the same mistakes aren't made again next time. Fortunately, in tennis you get a new chance every week."

Moments of sharing

One of the most successful players in the history of the European Championships is Alexia Dechaume-Balleret. The French woman won three doubles gold medals in the different age groups and reached two singles finals. In 1986, she just fell short to Arantxa Sanchez Vicario, who later won multiple Grand Slam tournaments and reached the number one ranking.

Nowadays, she is the Captain of the French girls, and we spoke to her right after top-seed Elsa Jacquemot won a gruelling three-setter against Switzerland's Sebastianna Scilipoti. "I don't have that many memories of the times when I played the European Junior Championships. It's been a while", she says with a smile, "but now that you remind me of those moments, some of them come back."

The results are one thing, more important to Dechaume-Balleret are other things, however. "I remember the moments of sharing. With my teammates, male and female. These moments in a team in a normally purely individual sport are so precious."

She had never played in Klosters and now is in the beautiful Swiss mountain resort for the first time. "It's great here. The people are very nice and everything is so well organised", she says. Unfortunately, there are no French boys this time because of the quarantine rules following Wimbledon. In 2019, they had captured all three titles - Valentin Royer in singles, Royer/Harold Mayot in doubles and the ➔

➔ nations trophy - when they were captained by former pro Olivier Delaitre. "It's a pity for our boys, for the tournament and also for the girls", Dechaume-Balleret says. "Our boys still have great memories from 2019, just before they went to the adults and turned pro. Those memories last for the entire career."

To create this team environment isn't always easy, especially when there are strong personalities in the team, Dechaume-Balleret admits: "You have to give them a certain freedom but they also need to understand that they are not playing for themselves only. They represent their country, and also play for their teammates. I always have given particular importance for the jersey of the French national team and I try to transfer those values to the young players."

As the former world #46 recalls, the transition for her had come quite naturally: "At the end of my career, I just felt it. I wasn't willing to do the efforts for my own career anymore, but I wanted to be a coach, help others and give back a little bit from what tennis has given me. I feel the values of sport are also very important for life in general." For the last two decades she has followed this path: her coaching resumé includes two years with Amélie Mauresmo, being French Fed Cup captain and working with Pauline Parmentier, another extra ordinary team player.

Alexia Dechaume-Balleret is still highly motivated. After Klosters, she will lead her girls to the European Summer Cups qualifiers in Romania. And she wants more: "Hopefully, we will reach the finals, because they will be held in France. And it would be a great experience for our girls to play for our colours in front of the home crowd." ●

COVID-19 Emergency Fund offers financial support to member nations

Tennis Europe recently announced a new project to assist member nations, and particularly those hardest hit by the financial effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The European Federation's smallest nations (C-Nations) were invited to apply for relief from the Emergency Fund, which provides immediate one-off grants to national federations.

After just two months, all eligible nations (Albania, Andorra, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Bosnia & Herzegovina, Cyprus, Estonia, Georgia, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Kosovo, Latvia, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Moldova, Monaco, Montenegro, North Macedonia, San Marino) have directly benefitted from the scheme.

Meanwhile, for a second consecutive year, membership fees have been reduced for all 50 nations, regardless of membership status. ●

Italy & Russia claim 14 & Under Summer Cups titles

The Summer Cups have made a welcome return, being the first European junior team event to be held since the pre-pandemic Winter Cups by HEAD in February of last year. The first age category in action was 14 & Under, with 68 teams in contention at the qualifying rounds played in eight cities across Europe. The culmination of the competition saw the last eight surviving boys' teams take to the courts at the final rounds played in Spain, where an excellent streaming service was offered daily by the Club de Tennis Valencia. Meanwhile, the girls played their final rounds 1000 km along the Mediterranean coast in San Remo, Italy.

DAY 1

The hot favourites going into the tournaments were Russia with a boys' team made up of three of the top five players on the 14 and Under ranking. However, the top seeds were knocked out in the first round by a strong Czech Republic team as #6 ranked Jan Kumstat defeated #5 Egor Gorin and #2 Maxim Mrva kept #4 Egor Pleshivtsev at bay in their singles matches. Another upset came in the form of a 2-1 victory by Switzerland over number three seeds Germany. The other semi-final spots went to hosts Spain and Italy.

In the girls draw, the Czech Republic caused another upset by taking out fourth seeds Spain 3-0, while Bulgaria achieved the same feat with a 2-1 victory over second seeded Ukraine. Slovakia ended Switzerland's hopes of defending their title from 2019, while Russia advanced with a 3-0 win over Belarus.

without the loss of a rubber. In-form Federico Cina led the fightback as Italy came from behind to end home hopes with a deciding doubles victory over Spain. The win marked Italy's seventh appearance in the final, while Czech Republic appeared in the championship showdown for a third time.

The Russian girls advanced to their 15th final, but they were made to work hard for it by Slovakia. Number one ranked Alina Korneeva was upset in the second rubber by #22 Renata Jamrichova and it came down to the deciding doubles to send the Russians through with a 2-1 win.

DAY 3 - Finals

Girls Final: Russia def Bulgaria 2-0

Number 18 on the rankings, Mirra Andreeva defeated Rosita Dencheva 6-1 7-5 to give Russia an early lead. Following this, Alina Korneeva was even more convincing in her win over Yoana Konstantinova, securing the crown with a 6-2 6-2 win. With the title already secured, the teams opted not to play the doubles. For the Russian team, which also featured Daria Egorova, this marked a record-extending ninth title in this age group and first since 2015.

Boys: Italy def Czech Republic 2-0

As in the girls' final, only two matches were needed to secure just the third ever victory for the Italian team. Their first winner's trophy was in the inaugural Summer Cups in 1979, and the next more than three decades later in 2016. Andrea De Marchi started Italy off strong with a 6-2 6-2 win over Jan Kumstat. Ninth-ranked Federico Cinà was tested a little more, but still came out on top over second-ranked Maxim Mrva to extend his Junior Tour win streak to 8 matches. The third player who also helped the Italian team to victory was Jacopo Vasami.

Tennis Europe Junior School – You & Your Mental Health

The Junior School's latest module explores the topic of mental health for young players. Stars such as Naomi Osaka and Andy Murray have recently spoken out about the pressures faced by professional players.

In this clip – the first of two parts focusing on mental well-being - we examine:

- What is mental health?
- Recognising warning signs
- The importance of on-court/off-court balance

Host Naomi Cavaday, a former WTA player, and guests including former ATP star Robin Soderling share their experiences of life on Tour and offer tips on how to manage your emotions if you're feeling overwhelmed.

The Junior School aims to prepare young athletes for a life in tennis. Devised for players aged 13-16 competing on the Tennis Europe Junior Tour, all resources can be found online and are produced in alignment with the sport's governing body, the International Tennis Federation, and approved by the ATP and WTA Tours. Special on-site classes are held throughout the year for players attending selected Junior Tour events.

Videos are produced in four major European languages (English, French, Spanish and Russian). A wide range of topics have been covered, including:

- Nutrition & Hydration
- Media and Social Media
- Anti-Doping
- Tennis Integrity
- Agents & Sponsorship

Grand Slam champion joins Junior School Media Workshop

Former world #5 Daniela Hantuchova was the star guest at a special Tennis Europe Junior School Media Workshop recently. The 4-time Grand Slam mixed doubles champion, now a leading tennis broadcaster, gave useful tips to invited juniors aged 12-16 and shared her experiences on both sides of the microphone.

Remembering her time on the Junior Tour, Daniela said; "I have lots of fun memories. Looking back I realise it's where you develop as a player but also as a person off court. It's a very important time, and that's why I'm so glad to be a part of this discussion."

The Workshop looked at issues surrounding the Media and Social Media, with players advised on the 'dos and don'ts' of social media, linguistic challenges, cyber-bullying and creating an optimal online presence for young players.

Tennis Europe CEO Thomas Hammerl introduced the European Federation and its activities to the junior players, and commented: "An important part of our strategy is to upgrade our digital services for our young players. We're very thankful to Daniela for taking the time to share her knowledge with us".

European Success at Olympic Tennis Event

Belinda Bencic (SUI) and Alexander Zverev (GER) have claimed singles gold at this year's Olympics setting an extraordinary record for European tennis at the games. The gold medalists have claimed what might arguably be considered to be the biggest titles of their careers. Bencic overcame both French Open finalists Barbora Krejckikova (CZE) and Anastasia Pavlyuchenkova (ROC) en route to her win. Zverev beat Novak Djokovic in a come-from-behind semi-final win to earn his spot in the gold medal match, ending the world #1's hopes of becoming the first male player ever to win the 'Golden Slam'.

European players and teams dominated the podium in the tennis events, sweeping 12 out of the 15 medals on offer. Five different European nations shared the 5 gold medals on offer and also won all silver medals.

Barbora Krejckikova & Katerina Siniakova (CZE) withstood the pressure as pre-tournament favourites and kept their form coming into the event going by winning gold in the Women's doubles. Surprisingly, this was the first-ever Olympic gold medal won by a nation which has produced a plethora of tennis stars over the decades.

In an all-Croatian mens' doubles final, Nikola Pietrangeli & Mate Pavic took the gold. The mixed doubles gold medal went to the ROC combination of Anastasia Pavlyuchenkova & Andrey Rublev.

The 24-year old singles champions have had remarkably parallel careers since appearing on the Tennis Europe Junior Tour at the same time:

- 2011 – European Junior Championships (14&U), gold + silver medals (Bencic, singles and doubles), bronze medal (Zverev, singles).
- 2011 – Junior Masters – champions (Bencic, girls – Zverev, boys).
- 2013 – #1 Year-End 16 & Under Ranking (Bencic, girls – Zverev, boys).

Incredibly, almost all European Olympic medallists are owners of a European Junior Championship gold medal, with Barbora Krejckikova, Katerina Siniakova, Marin Cilic, Marкета Vondrousova, Andrey Rublev, Nikola Pietrangeli and Karen Khachanov among the former champions. 🌟

Race to Monte-Carlo update

The Tennis Europe Junior Masters will stage its first edition at its new home in Monaco, the Monte-Carlo Country Club, from 13-15 October.

The season ending event for elite players features the Top 6 boys and girls of the Junior Tour's 14 and 16 & Under rankings, plus the winner and runner-up of the European Junior Championships. Qualifying points are earned exclusively at Junior Tour events throughout the year, and the Race to Monte-Carlo ranking is published on the Tennis Europe website each Tuesday. The final week to earn qualifying points will be that of September 20th, 2021. Rankings below are as of Tuesday 27th July.

Former Junior Masters champions include world #1s Rafa Nadal and Kim Clijsters.

European Beach Tennis Championships

The 2021 European Beach Tennis Championships will take place in Sofia from 8-11 September.

The event will be hosted by the Bulgarian Tennis Federation for a fifth time and makes its debut at the brand-new Sofia Beach resort, a custom-built Beach Tennis facility boasting 8 world-class courts.

The European Championships is a closed regional championship event on the ITF Beach Tennis Tour, at which players representing Tennis Europe's member nations compete for men's, women's and mixed doubles titles.

The professional event will once again be preceded by junior competitions for the 14 and 18 & Under age groups (5-7 September).

15 nations have entered teams for the event. Player nominations will be revealed in mid-August.

The most recent European Championships took place in 2019 and saw then world #1 Nikita Burmakin team with Sergey Kuptsov to give Russia its first ever European men's doubles title. The women's title holders are Sofia Cimatti and Gulia Gasparri of Italy, both of whom have earned multiple European titles in recent years. 🌟

European Senior Championships: ATP venue, sunshine and high class tennis in Umag

The Croatian Tennis Association hosted the annual highlight of the European senior tennis calendar recently, when almost 300 players from 36 nations descended on the picturesque resort of Umag to compete in the 2021 European Senior Championships.

Age categories from 30 to 85 were in action at the first S1000 series event of the season, held from 7-12 June. Five world #1s and a total of 36 Top Ten players were among the entries for the tournament, which would be dominated by players from Germany and Italy, who accounted for 13 of the 18 singles titles on offer.

The doubles field included a notable competitor: Men's 45 entrant Dimitri Poliakov of Ukraine is perhaps best known in tennis for winning the ATP Tour title in Umag back in 1991. On this occasion he was not so successful, falling in the quarter finals with partner Sergey Korolev (RUS). ➔

➔ Amongst the winners were world #1 Christian Greuter (GER), who became the only player this year to defend a European Championship title when he was awarded a walkover victory over Spain's Pablo Semprun in the Men's 55 final.

Playing on the ITF Senior Tour for the first time in eight years, Davide Gregianin (ITA) swept through the draw to end Clemens Weinhandl's (AUT) hopes of defending the men's 45 title that he won at home in Pörschach in 2019. The win marks a first European title for Gregianin.

On the women's side, Kristine Quadflieg (GER) secured a silver medal in the 40s division for a second successive time, this time finishing as runner-up to Italy's Katia Raffagnini Ceracchi.

Arguably the toughest event was the Women's 55s. France's Sophie Orsini emerged from a draw that featured six of the world's Top 10 players to beat unseeded Swede Magdalena Sekkenes for the title.

In addition to hosting the ATP World Tour event, the venue in Umag is a popular and well-established stop on the ITF Seniors Circuit. A 5700 event was also held in the week following the Championships, allowing players the chance to participate in back-to-back events. Later this year the venue will also host the ITF Seniors World Championships. During the week, players were treated to social events and many of the benefits of the world-class venue, including live streaming of matches from three show courts, service speed guns and daily on-site COVID testing.

CEO Thomas Hammerl commented, "On behalf of Tennis Europe, I'd like to thank the Croatian Tennis Association and its President Mrs. Nikolina Babic, as well as Tournament Director Mr. Petr Miric, President of the Croatian Seniors Tennis Association for giving our senior players the opportunity to compete in such a professional and safe environment. Seniors Tennis is a vibrant factor of our participation strategy, and it is inspiring to see so many players eager to come here from all over the world to compete for our European Championship titles."🎾

EVENTS

- This year's Davis Cup finals will be played across three European venues. Innsbruck and Turin have been chosen to join Madrid as co-hosts and will stage two groups and a quarter-final each.
- Matches will be played between November 25 and December 5 on hard courts at the Madrid Arena, Innsbruck's Olympia-Halle and the Pala Alpitour Arena in Turin.
- All three venues will host two groups, with two quarter-finals, both semi-finals and final taking place in the Spanish capital.
- Novak Djokovic's Wimbledon victory ensured his position as the first singles player to qualify for the 2021 Nitto ATP Finals, to be held at the Pala Alpitour in Turin from 14-21 November. Stefanos Tsitsipas, the first player to hit 40 match wins on the ATP Tour in 2021, is in second position. The world #1's Wimbledon title also saw the Serb become the first player to break the threshold of $150 million in prize money.
- Organisers have confirmed the cancellation of this year's Swiss Indoors in Basel. The ATP 500 series event will return from 22 - 30 October 2022.
- This year's US Open will be the first Grand Slam tournament since the beginning of the pandemic with full spectator capacity.
- The Stockholm Open, originally scheduled to run in Week 42 alongside the VTB Kremlin Cup in Moscow and the European Open in Antwerp, will instead take place from 7-13 November, the same week as the Next Gen ATP Finals in Milan.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATIONS & ORGANISATIONS

- Paul-Henri Mathieu has been appointed High Level Director of the French Tennis Federation. His mission will be to facilitate as many young players as possible to reach the top levels of the world rankings.
- The International Tennis Integrity Agency (ITIA) has appointed Nicole Sapstead as Senior Director for Anti-Doping. Nicole will join the organization in September 2021 and will have responsibility for leading the sport's worldwide anti-doping program, which is due to come under the auspices of the ITIA from 1 January 2022.

- Great Britain's Lawn Tennis Association has confirmed the appointment of Sanjay Bhandari and Anil Jhingan to serve as new Non-Executive Directors on the LTA Board. The pair will take up their positions from 1 August 2021.
- Goran Ivanišević, Conchita Martínez, the 'Original 9', and Dennis Van der Meer have been officially inducted to the International Tennis Hall of Fame.

RETIREMENTS

- Former Top Ten player Tímea Bacszinszky has ended her professional career.
- Dutch player Kiki Bertens, who peaked at #4 in the rankings, has also announced her retirement from the WTA Tour.

CHARITY

- An online auction featuring personal items and memorabilia from Roger Federer's career raised almost $1.5 million for the Roger Federer Foundation. The funds will be used to support the Foundation's work in Southern Africa and Switzerland. Items that were snapped up by fans included the outfit and racquet from his 2007 and 2009 Wimbledon and 2009 Roland Garros final wins, and the famous cardigan he wore while walking onto Centre Court to play the final at The Championships in 2012.

Tennis Europe Junior Tour Rankings - Overall

Tennis Europe's junior ranking system is devised to give a unified overall list that shows the relative strengths of all players, regardless of where they achieved their results or picked up points.

A player's overall total includes points from Tennis Europe Junior Tour 16 and 14 & Under events, plus points earned by players in these age categories who participate in ITF Junior Circuit and professional tournaments, all of which are weighted according to their relative strengths. The 14 &

Under ranking is still available separately (see next page), as well as being integrated to these overall rankings.

For more information on the rankings system, check out the Tennis Europe Junior Tour Rules and Regulations at www.TennisEurope.org. The 'Race to the Masters' rankings are also available separately, and include points earned exclusively at Tennis Europe Junior Tour events.

Rankings below are as of Tuesday 27th July, 2021.

DOMINATE THE GAME: THE NEW HEAD GRAVITY 2021 RACQUET SERIES

During an average tennis game, a player takes 300 shots. That's 300 chances to score. With the new HEAD Gravity you will go after every single one of these chances. Even if you're not precisely in the right place at the right time, the HEAD Gravity's large, forgiving sweet spot and unique frame construction gives you the confidence you need to go for the shot. Seize every opportunity and dominate the game.
